MAY 24TH, NATIONAL DAY OF PORTUGAL CELEBRATION

The celebration will start on the eve of the National Day, with the inauguration of a Portuguese Fair and Food Festival at the Westin Nagoya Castle Hotel: artcrafts, new eco-products and food specialities from Portugal will be on sale, tourist information available, Portuguese wines and food served at two restaurants (coffee shop " Boulogne" and contemporary dining " Crown" restaurant).

The Portuguese food specialities will be prepared by Fernando Heleno, Chef of the Bussaco Palace Hotel, which has been a charming and quiet resort chosen by Heads of State and Royal Families for a few days of rest in Portugal. Crown Prince Naruhito stayed there last year. The Portuguese Fair and Food Festival will last until May 30th.

On the 24th, the President of the Portuguese Republic and Mrs. Jorge Sampaio will attend the official ceremony for the National Day of Portugal at Expo Aichi 2005.

Within the cultural programme of the event a "daiko" group from Oharu - the city geminated with the Pavilion of Portugal - and a "fado" group from Lisbon will perform at the Expo Hall and, later on, at the public events space of Global Common Four (1, 2 and 3 p.m.). At the Pavilion of Portugal, Portuguese wine tastings oriented by Japanese professional sommeliers will start at 11 a.m., noon, 1, 2 and 3 p.m.

During the afternoon the President will visit the Pavilions of Portugal and Japan as well as those of two African Portuguese speaking countries: Angola and S. Tomé e Príncipe.

At 6.30 pm, a Portuguese to Japanese buffet dinner will be held at the Westin Nagoya Hotel hosted by the Commissioner General of Portugal with the presence of HE Presidente of the Portuguese Republique, Mrs. Jorge Sampaio with the Portuguese Delegation.

The celebration of the National Day of Portugal will end with a piano concert by Yuki Rodrigues, Portuguese Japanese young pianist, featuring works by Portuguese and Japanese composers since the 18th century through nowadays. We hope that Yuki Rodrigues will offer some of her own compositions inspired by Portuguese and Japanese folk melodies. The performance will start at 8.00 p.m. also at the Westin Nagoya Hotel.

This celebration will be the second big event organized by Portugal at the Expo. The first was held during four days on the occasion of Children`s Day (May 5). Then, two thousand Japanese children were drawing, at the Portuguese Pavilion, the portrait of a Portuguese friend and could take back home a souvenir of Portugal as a token of friendship.
