“Dreams to touch are there where the highest Himalayas are”

The above slogan touches everybody's heart who love Nepal. The visitors, after entering the Nepal Pavilion stand for a while looking around, as the spectacular sceneries of Himalayas including Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world are kept. Most of the visitors (80% of the visitors) expressed their deep feelings by saying “SHUVARASHI NEPAL PAVILION”. Really, Nepali hearts have truth and beauty that's why Nepal is famous for its rich art and architecture, culture, handicrafts, Himalayas and many more.

I had an opportunity to talk with one of the mechanical engineer from the Toyota company. He is very fond of trekking. He'd visited Nepal one year before for trekking in Langtang. The most interesting thing is he can speak Nepali language fluently. He said, “I came to Nepal for trekking one year before. I'd climbed some mountains with great enthusiasm but didn't get chance to climb in most of the Himalayas because of the bad weather. Next year, I will come to climb other popular Himalayas like Mount Everest.

A 41 years old man still has the confidence to climb Mount Everest, the highest peak in the world. His dream will be fulfilled after touching the highest Himalayas of Nepal.

Around 20,000 visitors go to see Nepal Pavilion each day. 2% of the visitors asked about the situation of Nepal. “Is it dangerous to travel in Nepal ?”. “How's the present condition of Nepal ?” Many questions arise regarding the situation of Nepal. Most of the visitors want to travel Nepal but due to the security problem and the present condition of Nepal they are hesitate to visit Nepal. They said, “If the condition is normal then they will definitely visit the Himalayan Kingdom.”
