About Dick Lee

Multi-talented Dick Lee has firmly established himself as a performer and composer, often recognised through his works as the spokesperson for the New Asian generation.

The Dick Lee phenomenon started in 1971 when, at the age of fifteen, Dick participated in various talent contests with the group, Harmony, and Dick and the Gang (teaming with his siblings). His first album, LIFE STORY, featuring his own compositions, was released in 1974.

Throughout the 70s and 80s, Dick championed the acceptance of Asian elements in pop music. His pioneering album, LIFE IN THE LION CITY (1984), won acclaim for just that. But the album that shot him to regional prominence was his 1989 release, THE MAD CINAMAN. Dick Lee has also won several awards in Singapore, Hongkong and Japan.

In 1990 Dick moved to Japan where he continued to develop the new asian identity through his solo work, as well as collaborations with top Asian artistes like Sandy Lam from Hong Kong and Japanese group Zoo. He has to date, written countless songs for the top singing talents in Asia.

Dick is also passionate about musicals. He has written many staged musicals including BEAUTY WORLD (1988), FRIED RICE PARADISE (1991), KAMPONG AMBER (1994), HOTPANTS (1997), and Jacky Cheung's acclaimed SNOW.WOLF.LAKE (1997). NAGRALAND (1992) toured Japan, Singapore and Hong Kong in a sold-out season. Dick continues his love of theatre by being Associate Artistic Director of The Singapore Repertory Theatre, an appointment he has held since 1998.

For 2000, Dick composed the songs to the musical of Phua Chu Kang, a highly popular sitcom, for the Singapore President's Star Charity Drive. Produced and broadcast by Television Corporation of Singapore (TCS), the musical raised over a record-setting $2 million dollars.

A dream come true for Dick is to be appointed the Creative Director for Singapore's 2002 National Day Parade. Coincidentally, his song We Will Get There was selected to be 2002's national song, and the theme song for the parade.

Apart from music, Dick's other passion is for fashion.
